Gundula Krawczyk-Wöhl is a Senior Partner at Kessel & Kessel GmbH. She has over 20 years of experience as a consultant and coach for organisations. She is a specialist in personality development. With a feel for the relevant topics and a keen eye for researching resources, she supports individuals and organisational units in their personal and professional development.

Based on clear values and with focus on meaningful action, she accompanies people and teams with mindfulness, clarity, and depth.

She advises managers in their personal development processes, and in role design in coaching sessions as well as leadership programmes. Healthy (self-) leadership, potential development, professional self-image, and the further development of leadership skills are the main focus of her work. For her, developing maturity and autonomy are decisive factors for effectiveness in leadership roles, and crucial to success in modern forms of work.

She supports management circles in clarification processes, and teams in their performance and self-organisation as a whole.

She combines the diverse approaches and methods of her consultant training such as Systemic Transactional Analysis, Constellation Work, Health Coaching, PEP, and Agile Organisational Development.

She is a certified consultant for the preference test Golden Profiler of Personality and Ego-Development (Thomas Binder).

She is working on developing hybrid development formats that enable digital social learning and that help intensify learning processes.

Gundula is a banker and psychologist, and brings with her years of experience as a management consultant and executive in a company in the financial sector.

She is the owner of the company, 'Consulting and Coaching: Human Culture System'.
